

Nixon Peabody's Jennifer Jovcevski receives "Top Women in Law" honor from Rochester publications

June 5, 2024

CONTACT

Katelyn Donahue

Media Relations Specialist

 Office +1 617.345.1148

 kdonahue@nixonpeabody.com

Rochester, NY. Nixon Peabody LLP is proud to announce that the Rochester Business Journal and The Daily Record have selected attorney Jennifer Jovcevski as one of the "Top Women in Law" honorees as part of their 2024 Excellence in Law Awards.

Jennifer and her fellow Excellence in Law Award recipients were honored at an awards celebration on June 4, 2024, at the Hyatt Regency Rochester.

An associate in the firm's Mergers & Acquisitions and Corporate Transactions and Nonprofit Organizations practices, Jennifer represents businesses in a range of commercial transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, and advises clients on general corporate matters and governance. She also advises nonprofit organizations on legal requirements and best practices for governance and operational matters.

In addition to her legal practice, Jennifer is the creator and host of Nixon Peabody's popular podcast, She Talks Law. Available on Apple and Spotify, She Talks Law celebrates women business owners and entrepreneurs across industries. Jennifer is also the president-elect for the Greater Rochester Association of Women Attorneys. She is committed to giving back to the community, as illustrated by her nearly 260 pro bono hours in the last year alone.

The Excellence in Law Awards pay tribute to and recognize leaders who have demonstrated outstanding achievement in the legal profession and work to make the community stronger. Honorees are selected by the Rochester Business Journal and The Daily Record's editorial teams.